

MAN IS MURDERED IN GRAND CENTRAL; SLAYER ESCAPES

Station Bootblack Kills Fellow Worker During Commuters' Rush Hour.

While the throng of incoming commuters was hastening through the Grand Central Terminal this morning, one bootblack employed in the station shot and instantly killed a fellow worker in their locker room on the 42d Street side of the Lower Concourse. Not one of the crowd heard the shot and the killer, hastening from the room, had little difficulty in mingling with the arriving passengers and making his escape.

The dead man is Giuseppe Louria, twenty-five years old, of No. 175 Seventh Avenue. He had a long and angry argument yesterday with the man who shot him. This morning they met again as they changed to working clothes in the locker room, and the argument was resumed.

Within a short time the argument developed into a fight and bottles of cleaner and polish began to fly in the locker room. While Louria and his adversary fought, the three other bootblacks in the room had all they could do to find cover.

Suddenly the man with whom Louria was struggling drew a pistol and fired three shots at him, the last bullet striking him in the left breast. As Louria clutched the wall for support, the assailant darted to the door and ran out upon the concourse. Louria took several steps as if he were trying to follow the man who had shot him and then dropped dead at the door.

DIVORCE COLLUSION HINTED.

Justice Refuses to Grant Decree to Brooklyn Nurse.

Supreme Court Justice Seeger at White Plains to-day refused to grant a decree of divorce to Mrs. Ida L. Kainin, a Brooklyn nurse, against Charles F.

Kainin of the Bronx, until further evidence has been offered. "It looks like collusion," said the Court. The couple have been living apart since June 30, 1916. Evidence was offered that Kainin had been living under another name with another woman. The case was not contested.

Sacrificing Our Entire Stock SUITS & OVERCOATS regardless of profit or cost!!

Here's why we're taking these tremendous losses. First: To help in our small way to reduce the cost of good clothes to where it belongs. Second: We believe clothing will be lower next season and we want to start with clear decks when readjustment begins.
